JOB-WORK OF ALL KINDS

Executed to order, neatly, and on reasonable terms.

It is intended to make the SHELBY SENTINEL a first-class Family Newspaper, Democratic in politics, devoted to General News, Literature, and Morality. To sustain our paper, we naturally expect the assistance and co-operation of the people of Shelby and adjoining counties. While the local interests of this section will not be neglected, we will aim to advance the general prosperity of the State.

The general interests and welfare of this section can in better way be advanced than through the medium of a newspaper.

Devoting our attention to all topics of the day, we will freely and independently discuss them. A cordial support will be given to Democratic and Conservative principles, in opposition to the revolutionary measures of Radicalism.

Believing that this is the only course which will result in permanent prosperity to the country and that these views are shared by the people of Kentucky naturally and heartily endorse we shall uphold and defend them at all times. Firm in the opinion that we can make our paper acceptable, we ask a liberal patronage.

Correspondence upon all subjects is respectfully invited.

All communications must be accompanied by the names of the writers, not for publication, unless desired, but as a guarantee of good faith and responsibility.

Communications to insure favorable attention should be brief, to the point, and plainly written upon but one side of the paper.

Respectful communications cannot be returned.

Announcements of Marriages and Deaths published gratis.

Obituary Notices, Tributes of Respect, etc., will be charged fifty cents for each ten lines—the money to accompany the manuscript.

Parties ordering us to advertise for them in other papers must advance the amount requisite to pay for such advertisement.

Advertisements under the "Special Notice" head will be charged 50 per cent. additional to the above rates.

All transient advertisements, and all advertisements from a distance, cash.

Yearly advertisers have the privilege of altering their advertisements quarterly. More frequent changes must be contracted for, otherwise they will be charged 20 cents per square for each change. Collection will be made as usual.

PARTHENOPE.

BY A. T.

She moaned within her sea-grot cool and deep:

And louder moaned the curlew sea without.

The angry wind with strong arms, beat the waves—

That, frightened, rushed for refuge to the shore:

They foam with rage; they howl with fear and pain!

And thro' the din the whirlpool's voice is heard

Altogether wild, and—like a voice

Of Tartarus, that haunts a sea of fire.

Athwart the moon, the murky clouds drive fast:

And on the sea-coast shrieks a bird of night.

Still moans the sire, in her sea-grot cool;

Her song that once could change the fate of loves,

And thrill the night with joy—and once could move

The very waves to dance with ecstasy—

So sweet, that she herself would faint with love—

Had failed to lure the hero of her heart.

From out her long, black, rippled hair she twists

The wreaths of coral, and of amber beads;

And from her rounded arms, and throats—she draws

The strands of pearl, and flings them to the deep.

Out on the waves she throws her burning arms;

And sought to cool her fevered agony;

She pressed her parching temple to the sea;

And her throbbing heart the sea thrilled back;

And then her passionate, wild voice she raised

Above the howl of waves, and shout of winds:

"Prepare, within thy depths, this night for me

A peaceful couch, to rest me on, O sea!

I've weathed my brow, I've sung my song in vain

To win my home-land hero from the main.

I tire of life—the loveless chase—am soon

Deep in a jeweled cave I'll sleep serene—

O, wavelets sing your requiems soft and low,

For, grief propelled, beneath I go! I go!"

"I'll sleep serene, until, some midnight hour—

O, hero home-returned—by love's strong power—

I'll stir me from my death-sleep in the sea

And haunt thy dreams with songs erst heard by me,

And I will meet thee at the gate of sleep.

To draw thee—to my cave-home—thine the deep.

O, wavelets sing your requiems soft and low,

For, grief propelled, beneath I go! I go!"

BRONCHIOS, Indiana.

FIRST AND LAST DINNER.

Some fifteen years had glided away

Since the fate of Rowland, and the tea remained; the stealing hand of time had written sunny changes in most legiticharacters. Rowland had become grizzled, two or three heads had not as many locks altogether as may be reckoned in a walk of half a mile along the Regent's canal—one was actually covered with a brown wig, the crown's feet were visible in the corner of the eye—good old port and warm

Madeira carried it against hook, claret and Burgundy, and champagne, stews hashes, and ragouts grew into favor—crusts were rarely called for to relish the cheese after dinner—conversation grew less boisterous, and it turned chiefly on politics and the state of the funds, or the value of landed property—apologies were made for coming in thick shoes and warm stockings—the doors and windows were more carefully provided with list and sand bags—the fire most in request—and a quiet game of whist filled up the hours that were went to be devoted to drinking, singing and riotous merriment. The rubbers, a cup of coffee, and at home by eleven o'clock, was the usual cry, when the fifth or sixth glass had gone round after the removal of the cloth. At parting, too, there was a large ceremony in the hall, buttoning up great coats, tying on woollen comforts fixing silk handkerchiefs over the mouth and up to the ears, and grasping sturdy canes to support unsteady feet.

Their fifteenth anniversary came, and death had indeed had been busy.

NOTHING TO SELL.—A few days since a green customer coming into Dr. G. J. Stivers Dental office, having just left the Banking House of J. A. Edwards & Co., remarked, "I don't see how them fellows make a living; there's two men behind the counter, and they haven't got a thing to sell."

Advertisers will please remember this, and will not expect notices that are not ordered and paid for.

Peterson's Magazine for April, is out on our table. It strikes us as being rather early for the April number, but as Peterson circulates over the entire country, we presume it is compelled to issue at an early date, that it may reach its distant subscribers before the fashions change. At any rate, Peterson is one of the most enterprising monthlies, and the ladies all know it. The present number is superb.

The Stock Sales on last Monday, (Court day), were much smaller than usual. The following sales were made:

HERNRY D. McHENRY,
Speaker of the House of Representatives, pro tem.

RICHARD T. JACOB,
Speaker of the Senate.

Approved Feb. 27, 1867.

THOS. E. BRAMLETTE,
Governor of Kentucky.

CAPT. HEADY.—We received a communication from this gentleman some time since, requesting us to discontinue the announcement that he was a candidate for Congress. We inferred that on sober reflection he had calculated to withdraw from the race. Noticing that he made a speech at Lawrenceburg in reply to Mr. Knott we presume he is again on the track.

The Capt. says that Mr. Knott is not the nominee of a regular Democratic convention.

The Capt. hath said it and the Capt. knows.

The Capt. says Mr. Knott would have no influence in Congress. That Mr. K. having been an original secessionist would not be listened to, while he could prevail on Congress to do many things.

The Capt. hath said it and the Capt. knows.

The Capt. fully believes that he will be elected. We are of a different opinion, but this county is not the Congressional district.

The Capt. hath said it and the Capt. knows.—Elizabeth Bannan.

NEW FEATURE.—The Paris Kentuckian has introduced a baby department—that is it is publishing the births that occur in that county. We hardly expected such a thing from a bachelor editor. It is all right nevertheless. When persons make their exit from this "vale of tears" we chronicle the fact, and why not, with equal propriety, note their advent. According to Tupper, "a babe in the house is a well-spring of pleasure," so when

"The gates of Heaven are left ajar," and a little cherub

"With folded hands and dreamy eyes, Wanders forth from Paradise," lets its coming be herald. Let it be proclaimed from the house tops and the printing press. Let the gong be sounded, and the bootjack be beat. Let the world rejoice, along with the delighted "parents" over "fadder's" hope and "mudder's" joy.—Georgetown Times

The idea is a good one; we will publish with pleasure all such items. Bring them along;—we mean the items for publication.

SUSPICION.—It is the worst policy in the world ever to bear an appearance of doubt toward another until he has given you good cause. Your suspicion may make an enemy, but it can never gain a friend; and a man who is distrusted, finding he has nothing to gain by honesty, or to lose by villainy, very often becomes a knave through having been suspected of being so.

A Prophecy of Retribution—Gloomy Reflections.

The venerable Nathan Lord, D. D., for a third of a century President of Dartmouth College, New Hampshire, amid all the political infatuation and religious fanaticism that has surrounded him, and that compelled him finally to surrender the position he had so long adorned, adheres steadfastly to the principles and opinions that he espoused before the insanity that now prevails in his section of the country had become general. The Charleston Mercury publishes a portion of a private letter written by him last month to one of his former pupils, extracts from which we subjoin:

I do not justify, in point of Christian principle or common prudence, the methods by which you have sought redress of the wrongs you have, for more than a generation, received from the North. But I more blame ourselves, first, for our denunciation of slavery itself, in distinction from its abuses, and then for our "irrepressible conflict" with it, undertaken upon false moral and political grounds, and carried on hatefully, as it has been, after a Mahomedan fashion. Were this institution a malum in se, and not sometimes a conservative necessity for all the parties, our method of overcoming it has been, from first to last, unworthy of a Christian people. We have done the work. We have given you a dreadful punishment. But, as we have done it in unrighteousness, our retribution some time, somehow, will come, perhaps to a general dissolution.

Yet I dare not speculate about the future. * * * I fold my hands, and await upon the providence of God. But in the general and in the long run I see no good before us. Judgment will come.

I think thus the rather because I seem to see an approaching catastrophe of all the nations. The world has grown old in transgression. From East to West the experiment of reforming and saving it has been tried in vain. We are the westernmost and last; and now that Christianized Anglo Saxon republicanism has failed, instead of calling on God for help, we are calling upon the negro. We look to a brutified, shiftless and licentious people to aid us in the work of self-government, which has been impossible to ourselves, and which I now believe is impossible on earth.

The demonstration seems now almost complete that man can neither govern nor be governed, nor govern himself, and that the last failure will somehow prove the greatest of all. The volcanic throes of the nations to overturn arbitrary power will be ultimately successful. Then liberty, equality and fraternity will have its short day; and when its Babel seems to be completed, the dream of earth will vanish.

Here all such prophesying is in vain. I find myself almost alone. I sometimes imagine that I could do more among your people, and even among the outcasts, suffering, perishing negroes, than among the philanthropists who have given them a boon which they know not how to use, and which these boasters never would have given them, but to make them subservient to their fanatical enterprises or their lust of power. But my day is past. What can one at three score and fifteen do but to repose, and prate, and lament?

How JOHN C. CALHOUN WAS OUTWITTED.—An interesting letter appears in the St. Louis Republic. Ex-Senator Jones, in a recent communication, said that John C. Calhoun did not deliver the speech which he had prepared against his (Jones') Territorial bill—"I having had the tact to have the same called up and acted upon during his absence from the Senate chamber."

The writer in the Republic says that the "tact" employed was this:

"The Hon. George W. Jones, or the General as he is more familiarly known at home, was, and is a great ladies' man. Knowing the opposition to his 'Territorial bill' on the part of Mr. Calhoun, and that a speech from that distinguished statesman would defeat it, he set his wits to work to procure the absence of Mr. Calhoun when the bill would be called up. To accomplish this he paid very marked attention to a lady relative of Mr. Calhoun then at the capital, and was so kind, polite and entertaining, and she, feeling under obligations to him for the same, inadvertently expressed the hope that circumstances might throw it in her way to render him some service. This was just what the General wanted, and he immediately said: 'You can, if you will, do me the greatest favor in the world; and went on to explain the Territorial bill, and the opposition of Mr. Calhoun thereto. Now, said the General, it will come up on such a day, you be in the gallery, and when I send you my card, call on Mr. Calhoun and on some pretext keep him out for an hour or two. She consented and carried out the arrangement, and during that absence the bill was passed, and Mr. Calhoun didn't have an opportunity to oppose. That, Mr. Editor, is George W. Jones' 'tact.'"

A MEDICAL OPINION.—An unfortunate man, who had never drunk water enough to warrant the disease, was reduced to a state by dropsy, that a consultation by physicians was held upon his case. They agreed that tapping was necessary, and invited the poor patient to submit to the operation, which he seemed inclined to do in spite of the entreaties of his son a boy of seven years old.

"Oh, father, father, do not let them tap you," said young hopeful "do anything that does not let them tap you!"

"Why, my dear, it will do me good, and I shall live long in health and make you happy."

"No, father, no, you will not; there never was anything tapped in our house that lasted longer than a week."

A young preacher who had just started out as a traveling evangelist, was one evening, according to the deluge, and after doing the manner in which Noah built the Ark and filled it with animals of every kind by pairs, closed in a solemn prayer, thus:

"You must know, my dear friends, that this was an arduous task for me, but I have got a pair of whales into the Ark!"

HOME MADE VINEGAR.—Every family may make its own vinegar.

The Maine Farmer published the recipe for making it, furnished by a lady. She took the parings and cores of apples, peeled or boiled water, with a little molasses and yeast, put all into a large stone jar, and kept it was moderately warm. In three weeks it was good sharp vinegar.

Mad. Demorest says: "Nothing but servant girls are wearing big hoops in New York now." How do you like that, ladies?

The London Quarterly Review. (Con.) The Edinburgh Review. (Whig.) The Westminster Review. (Radical.) The North British Review. (Free Church.) Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine. (Tory.)

The foreign periodicals above enumerated are regularly re-published by us in the same style and with the same promptness as heretofore. Those who know them and who have long subscribed to them, need no reminder from us; those whom the civil war of the last few years has deprived of their once welcome supply of the best periodicals, and who are desirous to have our publications again within their reach, and those who, residing far inland, remote from centers of commerce and literature, may never yet have met with them, will assuredly be well pleased to have the means pointed out of bringing accredited reports of the progress of European science and literature to their homes in the Western prairies or the Southern plantations.

Blackwood's Magazine continues to run as rapidly as ever. Equaling in interest and variety with every other and scientific department, its pages are filled with well told narratives and clever sketches of persons, which, by their occasional republication in book form, have been stamped as far superior to ordinary magazine literature. Bulwer and Lever and Mrs. Oliphant have written much of late in its pages. At present the Chronicles of Carlingford, the Memoirs of the Duke of Devonshire, and the Memoirs of the Duke of Devonshire, by Vol. 10, of J. E. B. Stowe's Staff, are the favorite serials running on from number to number.

The four Reviews and Blackwood, comprising the series above described, are republished at the following rates, viz:

For any one of the Reviews..... $4.00 per year.

For any two of the Reviews..... 7.00

For any three of the Reviews..... 10.00

For any four of the Reviews..... 12.00

For Blackwood and three Reviews..... 15.00

For Blackwood and two Reviews..... 10.00

For Blackwood and one Review..... 7.00

For Blackwood and three Reviews..... 15.00

For Blackwood and the four Reviews..... 18.00

Considering that the cost of printing has more than doubled since 1861, these prices are extremely low. The original English editions would cost in U. S. Currency more than twice these rates at the present time.

THE AMERICAN JEWELERS ASSOCIATION calls your attention to the fact of the being the largest and most popular Jewelry Association in the United States. The business is and always has been conducted in the most careful and honorable manner. Our rapidly increasing trade is a sure guarantee of the appreciation of our patrons for this method of obtaining rich, elegant and costly goods. The sudden stagnation of trade in Europe, owing to the late German War and recent disastrous financial crisis in England, has caused the failure of a large number of Jewelry Houses in London and Paris, obliging them to sell their goods at a great sacrifice, in some instances less than one-third the cost of manufacturing. We have lately purchased very largely of these Bankrupt Goods, at such extremely low prices, that we can afford to send away finer goods, and give better chances to draw the most valuable prizes than any other establishment doing similar business. OUR AIM IS TO PLEASE, and we respectfully solicit your patronage, as we are confident of giving the utmost satisfaction. During the past year we have forwarded a number of the most valuable prizes to all parts of the country. Those who patronize us will receive the full value of their money as no article on our list is worth less than One Dollar, retail, and there are no blanks. Parties desiring to win may depend on having prompt returns, and the article drawn will be immediately sent to any address by return mail or express.

The following parties have recently drawn valuable prizes from the American Jewelers' Association, and have kindly allowed the use of their names:
